EXPLORER COOK GREETED BY NEW YORKERS NEW TRUST COMPANY IS RUMORED

NEW TRUST COMPANY BEING ORGANIZED FOR HONOLULU

Prominent Business Men
Interested In The Enterprise

CAPITAL STOCK OVER $100,000
TO DO GENERAL TRUST BUSINESS

Final Details of Organization Will Be Closed Soon — Company to Begin Business in October —
More Evidence of Prosperity.

Honolulu is to have a new Trust Company. The final details for its launching are well under way and by October 1, it is said the company will be ready for business. Frank Thompson and E. J. Lord are said to be among the principals of the new concern, while several other names are mentioned, among them H. F. Lewis. Mr. Lewis said this morning that he knew nothing of the details, and that Lewis & Company were not thus far interested, but that a proposition might be submitted to him later.

It is said the new company will be capitalized at $100,000 and will do a general trust, loan and real estate business. Those interested are quoted as saying that the field here demanded the advent of another concern, as the business of the Territory is rapidly increasing. This would make five Trust Companies at present doing business here. The four are the Hawaiian Trust, the Bishop and Henry Waterhouse Trust Companies. It is reported that the papers in connection with the new company have been submitted to the Attorney General for his approval, and that upon completion of other details, they will take out their charter. The organization of a new trust company here gives further evidence of the rapid commercial development of Honolulu and the Islands, and is only a starter of other enterprises which are in the air.

In the offices of the different trust companies this morning the new concern was freely discussed and many suggestions made as to who the list of stockholders and officers will be. The movement has been on foot for several months, but has recently taken definite form.

KAHOOLAWE MAY DECIDE WORLD QUESTION

Island Can Be Used
For Big Rainfall
Experiment

LEASE WILL SOON
REACH EXPIRATION

Effect of Forests on Rainfall Can Be Proved If Suggested Plan Is Carried Out — Governor Frear
Is Favorable.

The island of Kahoolawe presents an unusually valuable opportunity to make an experiment of interest to the whole world. Governor Frear declared this morning in the course of a discussion on the benefits that will accrue to the Territory through an adoption of the methods contained in the suggestion made by Hydrographer M. O. Leighton and in the course of his lengthy report on the results of his surveys.

The Governor said that Leighton believes that the island of Kahoolawe presents the best opportunity he has yet seen of determining just how far forests effect the rainfall. Leighton says that it was difficult to find a place to make a test of the kind suggested, but that Kahoolawe would fill the demands fully.

"The lease on the island soon runs out," said Governor Frear, "and in carrying out the plan a systematic attempt would then be made to start a growth of vegetation and eventually of timber. All stocks would be kept off the island, and the endeavor to reclaim it could be carried out consistently."

"With the beginning of the work the necessary arrangements for the keeping of accurate records of the rainfall would be instituted, and through this means the question of world-wide interest as to the effect of forests on the rainfall could be scientifically determined."

Governor Frear referred to the well-known fact that at a comparatively short time ago Kahoolawe was well wooded, and until a recent time had a marked influence in stimulating the rainfall on the adjacent portions of Maui.

It is believed that the Territorial government will exert its best efforts to act upon the suggestion of Leighton and when the Kahoolawe lease expires begin an experiment that will settle for all time the much debated question as to the effect of forests and vegetation upon the rainfall.

In referring to the great interest that the Federal government is manifesting in the hydrography and geography of the Islands, Governor Frear stated that during his last

SMITH GOES, LIBEL CASES DROPPED IS RUMOR

Report Cathcart Will Not Press The Actions

DECLINES TO SAY
RUMOR IS FALSE

City and County Attorney Suite
Against Smith and Gazette
Company on This Month's Calendar.

It has become the general impression that, coincident with the retirement of Editor Smith of the Advertiser, the libel suits that are now pending in the Circuit Court against Smith and the Hawaiian Gazette Company will be discontinued. All of the cases are on the calendar for trial in September but they have been continued from day to day since the 20th.

Cathcart was asked this morning whether the rumor of the discontinuance was true and he replied that he did not wish to speak on the subject and referred the question to his attorney, A. G. M. Robertson.

While the City and County Attorney did not wish to either affirm or deny the truth of the rumor it is practically admitted that the departure from Hawaii of Editor Smith will bring the cases to a final termination.

MANY STILL IGNORE NEW TAFFIC LAW

Police Are Having Hard
Time To Enforce
Its Terms

"Turn your horse or automobile around and face the other way." This and many other commands are heard daily, issued by the police to people who insist on disobeying, or ignoring the terms of the new traffic ordinance. The speed situation is some better, but many violations yet are causing the department much trouble. The enforcement of a law is up to the people, and unless they aid in carrying out its regulations, no benefit can be derived from it.

Many of the hacks under the old system, stand at the curb with their horses facing the wrong way. The officers will be instructed to have the cabbies turn around and face ahead on the right, in order to fulfill that section of the traffic ordinance. A new ordinance is also being framed to designate certain streets and corners for hack and automobile stands.

HAWAII TO LEAD AS ARMY POST ON PACIFIC

U. S. Government To Build A Monster
Commissary

INCREASE OF FEDERAL TROOPS
DEMAND LARGE QUARTERS

Captain Falls Has Been Authorized by War Department to Proceed
on His Own Judgment—Extensive Plans for Future.

The fact that the United States government desires to make Honolulu one of the most important army posts in the world, was substantiated this morning at the local quartermaster's department when Chief Clerk C. J. De Roo, in the absence of Captain Falls, stated that a commissary depot will be established here as soon as practicable.

"Owing to the increase of United States troops here," said De Roo, "a commissary depot will be established here." Captain Falls has been authorized by the department to either get a store for army supplies, or use his best judgment by subdividing his present quarters on Hotel street. It is more likely, however, that a new place will be obtained for that purpose.

In order to get supplies from the local market the officials of the quartermaster's department in Washington authorized Captain Falls to advertise for bids for the store for commissary use.

During the Spanish-American war, when troops were being transported to Manila via Honolulu, a commissary depot was established on Fort street, near the Lucas planing mill.

This was continued until after the war. During that time Honolulu merchants received their share of profits from the United States government through the local commissary depot. There are also other plans for important improvements which have not as yet been developed.

Board Of Supervisors

At tonight's meeting of the Supervisors, the new street ordinance will come up for final passage, or otherwise. From the sharpening of hatchets, and the wicked looks in the eyes of some of the opponents to the ordinance, it may be "buried." It is held unjust by many of the concerns in the city to tax everyone a dollar for putting in a post or pole, digging a hole or putting in a sewer, pipe or conduit. On the other hand the Supervisors believe they should fully protect the
